

BLACKBOARD TIP OF THE WEEK

A shortcut for navigating between courses

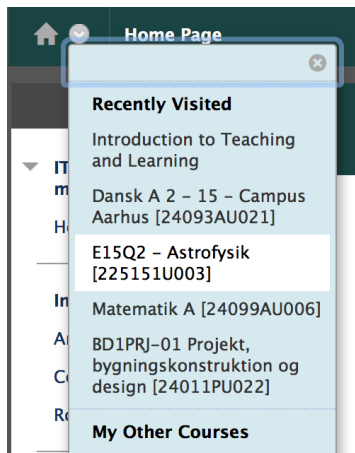

When navigating between your courses it is quite bothersome having to enter the "Courses" page every time – especially since the page often require quite some time to load.

Therefore, it is a good idea to use a shortcut with which you can navigate between courses without having to use too many steps or too much loading time.

The shortcut is called "Course-to-Course Navigation". Whenever you are in a course you can find the shortcut by clicking the downward arrow right next to the small house:

If you click on the arrow, a list will appear with both the latest courses you have visited and a complete list of all your courses.

Now you can choose what course you wish to visit next.

Happy Blackboarding and have a nice weekend.
