

BLACKBOARD TIP OF THE WEEK

Use Adobe Connect from your course page

Recently it has become possible for all Science and Technology educators to access Adobe Connect directly from their course pages in Blackboard.

Adobe Connect is a web conference system in which you can communicate with your students. Use it for presentations with or without recording, for supervision, for students to work in groups etc. Some parts of AU already use Adobe Connect with great success – so give it a go!

With this new possibility, you can create rooms for different purposes directly from Blackboard and the students will have access to them right away from the student tool area. No need for extra logins or to copy links from one system to another.
